Down They Go.

Meaning the prices of job printing. The following low rates will hereafter rule at the BULLETIN Job Printing Rooms. They are the lowest ever offered in this city by any printing establishment. The reduction does not mean careless printing and inferior stock, but on the contrary first-class press-work and composition and the best quality of paper:

Bill Heads per ream.....	$5 00
Two Reams.....	9 00
Letter Heads per ream.....	4 50
Packet Note Heads per ream.....	3 00
Commercial Note Heads per ream.....	2 75
Envelopes per thousand.....	3 00
Visiting Cards fifty.....	25c

And other printing at proportionately low prices. Rosser & McCarthy.

The Paris Morgue.

The Morgue is an admirable institution, and has repeatedly rendered the greatest services in bringing clews to light for the detection of crimes. All bodies recovered from the Seine, and the bodies of all persons who have met with violent deaths mysteriously, are conveyed to it and exposed for public view behind a glass screen. When a body cannot be identified it is photographed, and a portrait of it remains on view at the Morgue for months and months after it has been buried. The clothes found on the body are also exhibited, and thus it often happens that a long time after a man has disappeared, somebody, recognizing his photograph or apparel, is enabled to give evidence by which the causes of his death are at length ascertained. It must be added that whenever there is a mysterious disappearance in Paris, those who are interested in the missing person go, as a matter of course, to the Morgue, to see if the body is not there. A continual stream of men, women and even children passes through this building all day (the guardians having orders to discourage no one from entering), nor is the demeanor of the crowds who go to view the dead bodies, whether from curiosity or more serious motives, otherwise than decorous.—London Times.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 2, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MAYSVILLE.

If the Democrats of Mason county desire to retain their strength in the state and district conventions, they must poll a full vote on Nov. 7th, as that vote will be the basis of representation for the next two years. Let Mason be the banner county.

The Odd Fellows of Augusta have bought a lot for Mrs. R. D. Lane, the widow of the marshal who was killed there several months ago, and the generous citizens of the town have contributed $450 toward building a house for her. Mr. Isaac Lane of this city, a brother of the late R. D. Lane, has kindly offered to put up the house free of charge. The lot cost $205.

The statement in the New Republican that Captain Culbertson is in favor of abolishing the tax on tobacco, and a general reduction of taxes, is on a par with many other sayings of that paper, since the "lash of the Stalwarts" has been administered to it. It claims all the virtues for its candidate, but even if Captain Culbertson favored the reduction of taxes—which we deny—were he to be elected, he would be governed by the caucus of his party, and would never vote for any measure that would relieve the people of any of their burdens. He is a Stalwart of the Stalwarts. He dispenses postoffices, provided the Senate will confirm; and in the future, as in the past, he will be a pliant slave of the Administration.

We are glad to learn that the visits of Capt. Culbertson, and his satellite, Col. Egbert, has caused the leading Democrats in every precinct to go to work earnestly for Col. Hurt, and we now predict a very large vote will be given him on the 7th. Col. Hurt has nothing to fear unless the Democrats, from over confidence, neglect to attend the polls. Whenever there is a full vote in this county the Democratic majority is always large. The Republican vote is composed of three-fourths colored and one-fourth white, and the colored vote is always on hand, and can be rallied in a few days. The democratic vote is composed chiefly of the farming and laboring classes, and, unless ample notice is given, a full vote cannot be counted on; but when once the note of alarm is sounded the Democracy rally to a man easily and defeat the enemy. The great importance of the November election cannot be over estimated. The gain of congressmen in Ohio has made it possible for the Democrats to have a majority in the next house of representatives. The news from New York, Pennsylvania and Indiana encourages us to believe that large gains will be made in those states, and with such brilliant outlook, we should be encouraged to give largely increased majorities in this district and state. We should especially be warned by the result in West Virginia. The Democracy of that state, with a healthy majority, suffered the Republicans to elect two congressmen. No reason can be given except the indifference of the Democrats, many of whom failed to go to the polls. Let there be no laggards in Mason county. Let every Democrat realize that the election of Col. Hurt may depend upon a single vote. Let every one know that a majority in the next congress may depend upon the vote for Col. Hurt.

The Democrats of every precinct in the county should remember, that the vote polled on Tuesday, November 7th for Col. Hurt, will be the basis of representation in the county conventions for the next few years. If the precincts fail to come out with their full vote, they will reduce the number of their delegates, and thus weaken their influence in convention.

Two thousand dollars' worth of jewelry brought from the States was seized at the Montreal depot by custom officers.

Henry Clark, stage carpenter at Abbey's Park theater, New York, burned at the fire Monday night, died Tuesday.

COUNTY POINTS.

FROM ASHLAND.

Two Men and a Child Killed and Sixteen Persons Wounded in the Fight Yesterday.

Tremendous Excitement and Indignation in all the Up-River Towns.

Special to the DAILY BULLETIN.

ASHLAND, KY., Nov. 2, 1882.—In the fight yesterday at this place two men and a child were killed and sixteen persons wounded, several fatally. There is tremendous excitement and indignation in all the up-river towns.

THE trial of Ivan Bowman for killing Marshal R. D. Lane, has been postponed by the Bracken circuit court, on account of the sickness of Bowman.

THE Covington Commonwealth says: Rev. J. B. Briney, of Maysville, the new pastor of the Fifth street Christian Church, is in Covington, and has assumed the duties of pastor of that church. Mr. Briney is an energetic and no doubt will be a popular preacher in this community.

MR. CHARLES WHITE's two stores on Second street, just finished, are among the neatest in the city. One of them is occupied by Mrs. Williams as a dry goods store and the other has been rented to Windhorst & Blum, merchant tailors.

SERGEANT JOHN M. HIERLY, of the Emmet Rifles who was wounded at Catlettsburg, by the accidental discharge of a pistol, is still there and is receiving, we are assured, all the attention his condition requires. The ball entered the right leg just below the calf and came out six inches above. A small artery was severed but the wound is not regarded as serious. Mr. James Kehoe, of this city and Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald, of Lexington, remained at Catlettsburg to take care of him.

MR. B. MCAULEY, the famous comedian will appear, at the opera house, next Monday evening, in Locke's great comedy-drama "A Messenger from Jarvis Section." The opera house will no doubt be crowded on the occasion of the appearance of this great actor. The New Word says:

Uncle Dan! is a boldly-sketch character of simple goodness and faith in human nature, but great shrewdness and cool management when business calls upon his intellect and energy. Mr. McAuley takes this part and plays it with force and effect. His dialect is broad; his manner contrived, without rudeness, and perfectly natural; his affection hearty, sympathetic with all sorrow and distressed, and indignant at all meanness and corruption. When he gets into the hands of the gang who threaten him with death his conduct takes on an aspect of heroism, but in the simplicity of perfect honesty.

MOB LAW OVERCOME.

State Troops Attacked by an Armed Mob near Catlettsburg and at Ashland.

Several of The Latter Killed And Many Wounded--Ferry Boat Burned and Sunk.

Splendid Conduct of The Soldiery—The World Shown That Kentucky Can And Will Maintain The Supremacy of Law Within Her Borders.

The Emmet Rifles Complimented by Major Allen For Their Soldierly Bearing.

The state troops lately ordered on duty at Catlettsburg, comprising the Emmet Rifles, of this city; the Blackburn Guards, of Midway; the Nuckols Guards and McCreary Guards of Frankfort, the Lexington Guards, and the Louisville Light Artillery and companies C. and D. of the Louisville Legion, arrived by the steamer Granite State at fifteen minutes after one o'clock this morning, having in charge Neal and Craft, the Ashland murderers, who had been granted a change of venue to Carter county, the trial to take place at the regular term of the circuit court in February.

The change of venue was granted by the Boyd circuit court on Tuesday morning. A great deal of dissatisfaction was shown at this action of the court and it became very manifest that serious trouble was brewing. At night Major Allen, the commander of the troops, ordered out a force of thirty scouts who scoured the neighborhood all night. He also put on duty a double guard and ordered the entire command to sleep upon their arms. They were aroused three times during the night by false alarms.

The next morning (Wednesday) a large crowd gathered into Catlettsburg, and at every turn the troops were insulted and rudely treated. It was ascertained about eight or nine o'clock, that a part of the Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad track had been torn up to prevent the departure of the command with the prisoners by that route. Major Allen, therefore, determined to go back to Lexington by way of the river, by the Granite State which was expected to arrive at noon.

At eleven o'clock a guard stationed at the depot bought the information that an armed mob was coming in by rail from Ashland and Ironton, Ohio, on three flat cars and one passenger car. He ordered his men into line of battle on two side streets leading to the river landing, and awaited the arrival of the mob. The cars came in and contained about fifteen hundred men armed with rifles, shot guns and pistols, and formed a straggling line from the depot to a point about a hundred yards from Major Allen's command. They were stopped here by the warning that they would be fired upon if they approached any nearer. The leader of the rabble stepped to the front and was met by Major Allen. He demanded the surrender of Neal and Craft to the mob with the declaration that it was the intention to hang them. Major Allen told the mob that the prisoners were on the Granite State, which had arrived by that time, and if the mob wanted them they would have to go there and take them, but any attempt to do so would be resisted and those who tried to take them would do so at their peril. The Lexington Guards and the Emmet Rifles were then ordered nearer the boat. The mob next made an attempt to close in upon the troops but were promptly warned to approach no nearer. They kept their distance. The Louisville Artillery was then ordered on the boat, and was followed by the other companies. It must be understood that during the parley repeated demands had been made for the surrender of the prisoners, and the most determined spirit exhibited to take them from the charge of the soldiers. As the troops were moving upon the boat Major Allen was informed by the leader of the mob that he "would catch hell at Ashland."

All the troops having embarked upon the steamer it left the landing between two or three o'clock, and steamed to the mouth of the Big Sandy river above Catlettsburg where it turned and headed down the stream.

A short distance below Catlettsburg the mob which had taken the train again opened fire on the steamer firing scattering shots which was kept up to within a short distance of Ashland. The fire was not returned from the boat, the troops having been expressly commanded by Major Allen not to fire until he had given the order to do so.

At Ashland the rabble seized the ferryboat and were in the stream when the Granite State arrived ready to intercept her.

As the Granite State made no sign of stopping at the town the ferryboat whistled several times for her to do so, and when she kept upon her course the party on the ferryboat opened fire with small arms and one cannon. Six or seven of the State troops were slightly wounded by the fire from the ferryboat. While the firing was at its height Major Allen ordered it to be returned. The Emmet Rifles, Companies C and D of the Louisville Legion, and the Light Artillery were stationed on the boiler deck of the Granite State. The Lexington guards, McCreary Guards, Nuckols Guards and Blackburn Guards were on the hurricane deck. The order to fire was responded to promptly and continued for several minutes, something over a thousand shots being fired. The pilot of the ferryboat was killed shortly after the shooting began and many others were observed to fall and are believed to have been killed. The ferryboat having lost her pilot floated on down the river and the order to cease firing was given to the soldiers on the Granite State. The ferryboat caught fire and it is believed to have sunk shortly after.

Fearing trouble at Ironton, the boat did not land there and the troops were kept under arms until the place had been passed.

These are the particulars obtained from an eye witness and may be relied upon as accurate. It is certain the soldiers acted with coolness, deliberation and forbearance, and they have done no more than their duty and done it in such a way as to command the full approval of the state authorities, by whom they were entrusted with the duty they have performed. The prisoners were taken to Ashland, arraigned in court and safely returned to the Lexington jail, and all this in the face of an organized body of men, numbering thousands, probably, bent upon taking their lives. This has established the fact that Kentucky can and will maintain the supremacy of the law in all quarters of the commonwealth and under all circumstances.

NOTES.

Neal and Craft exhibited remarkable coolness during the whole trying time.

Craft remarked to one of the soldiers that the reason the troops had escaped serious casualty was "because they were guarding innocent men."

Large crowds were encountered at Greenup and Riverton but no hostile demonstration was made.

It was expected the mob would follow the Granite State to Portsmouth by rail, and consequently the boat did not land there, and the troops were put under arms until the place had been passed.

Neal and Craft said on the boat that they had no fear as long as they were in the custody of the soldiers. They said the mob was made up of cowards who never fight only when under the influence of liquor.

An evidence of the bitter feeling at Catlettsburg was shown in the circumstance of hanging the Governor in effigy, which was done on Friday night last week.

The mob was made up entirely of furnace men and miners. So far as known no prominent citizen of either Ashland or Catlettsburg was connected with it.

On the arrival of the troops at Maysville they were quartered with the prisoners at the court house until a special train could be made up. They left at six o'clock.

The light artillery company left their cannon here to be shipped to Louisville by river.

Major John R. Allen exhibited the greatest coolness and many soldierly qualities that provoked the general admiration of the troops. He was firm, though kind and courteous, at all times.

Major Allen speaks in the highest terms of the Emmet Rifles, and commends them especially for their bravery Tuesday night and their gentlemanly bearing at all times.

ROOF PAINTING.

A Few Plain Facts in Regard to TIN and IRON ROOFS.

Preserve your roofs by having a coat of

ARMSTRONG'S ELASTIC ROOF PAINT

Applied on them. After ten years test in different cities in the state of Kentucky, Armstrong's Elastic Roof Paint is acknowledged superior to any other in use. It forms a heavy elastic body smooth and glossy; it will not crack or scale, dries quickly and will remain without repainting from 8 to 10 years. This paint will stop all leaks in tin or iron roofs and remain so for many years. It has been applied to many of the best buildings, both public and private, in this state, of which I have testimonials to show from gentlemen whose standing in society and business qualifications makes their opinion and knowledge of its worth, after having tried it for years on their roofs, which of itself is the best of guarantees of its useful and valuable worth to all who have or metal roofs. If you have a leaky or a worn out roof that has decayed from neglect of being properly covered with paint, and it leaks and your tinner has failed to stop the leaks, give my paint a trial, and if I do not stop the leaks entirely there will be no charge made.

I will remain in this city a few days with the view of introducing my Elastic Paint, of which I am the inventor and manufacturer and sole owner. I manufacture but the two kinds, the Black Elastic and the Elastic Brown. Neither of these paint contain any linseed oil in their composition, and both being fire proof when applied on shingles or wood. The Black Elastic can stand more intense heat than any other paint made or known in this country, and is calculated for tin or iron roofs.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

Murderers in France are frequently expelled, in addition to death or the galleys, to pay a heavy compensation in money, when they have it, to their victim's family.

The prices given for horses in England in the last century were fully as high as now. In 1793 three hunters brought in the aggregate $5,250; three more, $6,000, and $5,000 was refused by Whitebread, the brewer, for another.

If a Turk meets any of his wives in a walk through the bazaars it is not etiquette for him to notice them, although they may be throwing away his money right and left. He can only stroke his beard and say "inshallah!" (please God), or "Allan kerim!" (God is merciful).

An English lady who sued for damages because of a fall when boarding a steamboat has just lost her case. The jury decided that her high-heeled boots had wontonly and willfully contributed to cause the injury of which she complained.

The danger of a sudden revulsion of feeling was fearfully exemplified a few days since in London in the case of Major Savory, the Chairman of the Committee of the Naval and Military Club. This officer had drawn Shotover in the £500 sweepstakes, and was so excited on hearing the news of the mare's victory in the Derby that shortly afterward he had an apoplectic fit, and soon died.

Two members of the ancient gypsy tribes of the Coopers and Taylors were married with Protestant rites at St. Mary's Church, East Moulsey, in England, the other day. Prior to the marriage ceremony a baby belonging to the Cooper family was baptized. The church was crowded with gypsies, who were in the neighborhood in great numbers to attend the Hampton races. Almost all the gypsies present were profusely decorated with wild flowers.

Accounts from Syria represent the condition of the country as worse than ever. In the interior there is no security whatever either for life or property. The neighborhood of Aidin is infested by three different bands of brigands, who, without let or hindrance from the authorities, plunder houses, rob travelers, and take well-to-do people captive and hold them to ransom. One village has been completely ravaged and its inhabitants despoiled of all they possessed. In consequence of these disorders, commerce languishes and agriculture suffers.

The Paris Figaro gives the following recipe for making a free tour of the world: Adopt the Jewish religion and go to Russia. Thence you will be ejected and forwarded by way of Lemberg to America by the emigrant agent. In America assume the garb and appearance of a Chinaman and you will be dispatched to China. There give yourself out as a Russian and you will be returned to that country, from which you may again be expelled as a Jew and returned to Austria—Q. E. D.

Lake Water Eccentricity.

During the high wind Monday afternoon several parties at Hathaway Point were treated to a grand spectacle. The wind swooped down suddenly upon the smooth water in the bay, and taking it up for the space of about six rods wide lifted it into the air to the height of 175 feet, and this wall of water was carried down the lake with lightning speed for about six miles, when it divided into two parts, each of which went whirling about after the manner of a genuine water-spout. Several persons who were fishing a little distance from the shore made quick time in getting to land again, but luckily the cyclone did not strike the Point at all; if it had, none of the buildings there could have stood the racket. There were fortunately not any boats out in the track of the watery wall, which would certainly have lifted up and destroyed anything in its way. It is spoken of as a terribly grand sight.—St. Albans (Vt.) Messenger.
